“The 2016 ‘Marsh Estate’ Pinot Noir is another gorgeous bottling from this great Oregon winery. The wine shows a great deal of freshness on the nose with red fruits and lighter floral and earthy tones. The palate with red fruits and dark fruits masquerading with a great sense of tension in the wine. Earthy and roasted fig undertones complete this brilliant wine. This release by the talented Rollin Soles of ROCO will continue to evolve well over the next fifteen years. Drink 2019-2035”

“There’s ripeness here that is a signature of this producer. Dark kirsch and fragrant wildflowers combine well on the nose with hints of dark chocolate. The palate has a fleshy, full and sleek feel with dark-cherry punch at the finish.”

“A lush mix of round red and blue berry fruit, this was made with house-cultured indigenous yeast and macerated both before and after fermentation. Aging for 18 months in a mix of mostly neutral barrels has smoothed it out and added nice touches of mocha and creamy caramel.”

Paul Gregutt, November 2019
